The topic of the app and definition

Culinari is an application for sharing pictures of the foods you've cooked along with the recipes for them. Users can make their own tweaked versions of the recipes posted by other users.

User groups

Unregistered user

Activities

Search and view recipes based on various criteria

Computer skills/domain expertise

- Basic computer skills
- Basic kitchen skills or wanting to learn them

Goals

- Find new recipes to cook

Tasks to achieve

- Cook delicious food

Pain points

- Always have a fresh source of new recipes and inspiration

Usage context

- At home or on the go

Software ecosystem

- Operating system and an up to date browser

Frequency of use

- Every day to few times per week

Home cook (a registered user)

Activities

- Upload photos of the foods they've cooked
- Write down the recipe to go along with the picture
- Rate recipes
- Comment on the pictures/recipes
- Create tweaked versions of the recipes ("remixes") others have made that will be shown under the recipes
- Search and view recipes based on various criteria
- Generate shopping lists based on the recipes

Computer skills/domain expertise

- Basic computer skills
- Basic kitchen skills or wanting to learn them

Goals

- Share their recipes and the pictures of their food
- Find new recipes to cook

Tasks to achieve

- Cook delicious food

Pain points

- Always have a fresh source of new recipes and inspiration

Usage context

- At home or on the go

Software ecosystem

- Operating system and an up to date browser

Frequency of use

- Every day to few times per week

Administrator

Activities

- Modify/delete users
- Ban users who break the rules
- Delete comments/recipes/photos that break the rules
- Computer skills/domain expertise: Advanced computer skills

Goals

- Keep the app clean of unsuitable content

Tasks to achieve

- Moderate the application

Pain points

- The app should be safe for the people of all ages and sensibilities to use

Usage context

- At home or at the office

Software Ecosystem

- Operating system and up-to-date browser (Chrome, Edge, Firefox, Safari, Opera).

Frequency of use

- Every day, as often as possible

User stories

- As an anonymous user, I want to be able to browse the existing public content, with no extra hassle.
- As an anonymous user, I want to be able to register to the website, providing my personal email address and username.
- As a registered user I want to share the recipes and the pictures of the foods I've cooked so that other people can also enjoy them and give me feedback on them.
- As a registered user I want to be able to generate shopping lists so I can remember to buy the ingredients at the grocery store.
- As a registered user, I want to be able to save other user's recipes to my own recipe book.
- As a registered user I want to comment on the recipes others have created so that I can share my knowledge or ask them questions
- As a registered user I want to be able to upvote other users' posted recipes.
- As a registered user I want to create remixed versions of the recipes other users have created, so that I can easily make my own versions of them
- As an administrator, I want to ban or delete any user who breaks the rules of that website so that I can manage the website safety
- As an administrator, I want to delete or modify comments, recipes, and photos that break the rules of the website so that I can keep the rules.